The scatter plot shows the relationship between COR value and rockfall radius. The x-axis represents the rockfall radius in cm, while the y-axis represents the COR value. The data points indicate a trend where the COR value increases with increasing rockfall radius.