

Legend: blue represents plots, red farm buildings. The x-axis indicates the extent of the flood. The left y-axis gives the number of elements located at the position of the corresponding points. The right y-axis shows the corresponding cumulative percentage given by the lines. For example, 10 % of the plots (blue lines) are located in the floodplain at a position of 40 or under, two plots are present at this precise position.