Here a brief comment. The two reviewers highlighted minor issues that are present in the paper. The authors provided detailed and satisfactory responses, useful for the improvement of the revised manuscript.

From my side I suggest to reorganize a little the conclusion chapter. Right now this section looks more like a discussion on the results, than a real conclusion. Part of these comments should be shifted in the chapters related to the results and these should be renamed “results and discussion”. The conclusion chapter should summarize the main
