

Interactive comment on “Extreme temperature days and potential impacts in Southern Europe” by A. Cardil et al.

J. Barranco Reyes

jbarrancoreyes@gmail.com

Received and published: 7 June 2014

Indeed Mr. Molina. Here in the Canary Islands we’ve recently suffered the relationship between HTD and 5th generation wildfires. As we cannot set a model using african dust advections as in Cataluña, due to the everlasting presence of such conditions (in bigger or lesser quantities) in our atmosphere (Dorta), we’ll certainly follow with interest this line of study relating HTDs and wildfire conditions.

Interactive comment on Nat. Hazards Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., 2, 3863, 2014.