Dear Prof. Malamud, we thoroughly revised the paper following all the suggestion of the referees. The paper was substantially lengthened, 2 more figure were added, a new statistical test was performed, the references were improved. We must thank the referees because our work was greatly improved by their suggestions, and our conclusion are now based on a more refined analysis of our data set (e.g., we eliminated the definition of "ambiguous wells"). To help you understand how much the paper was changed, we enclose here a PDF version with all the modification from the original submission highlighted in yellow. Best regards, Marco Mucciarelli
