Dear Drs. Salvati et al.

We have now received two very positive reviews on your paper "Perception of flood and landslide risk in Italy: a preliminary analysis". Although the discussion phase is still open (and does not close until 10 July) I would encourage you to prepare responses to each of the authors, and a revised manuscript which brings in the changes suggested by the authors.

There may be additional comments from the public, but these comments can be incorporated at a later stage if necessary.
