

Title: China imports more than 1 million tons of sugar in 2009

News release time: February 24, 2010

From the statistics of China customs, China imports 1.064 million tons of sugar in 2009. Comparing with the amount in 2008, amount of sugar imported increased by 36.5% and the total value of these sugar imported is 0.38 billion USD (U.S. Dollars), which increased by 18.8%. The average price of sugar imported is 355.5 USD per ton, which decreased by 13%.

---

This news comes from Yunnan Sugar Network. As Yunnan is one of the most important sugar production area in China, with annual sugar production comprising approximately 20% of the total domestic production, this network is quite professional in releasing board and authoritative information on sugar market in China.