

Title: The total sugar production of China in Season 2009/2010 is about 11 million tons

News release time: March 3, 2010

In the afternoon of March 2, 2010, President of China Sugar Association Jia Zhiren declared in Guangxi sugar trade fair, that because of severe reduction of sugar production in Guangxi and Yunnan Province in Season 2009/2010, the total sugar production of China will be about 11 million tons, and in 2010, sugar market of China may be in slightly short supply.

---

Sponsored by the Xinhua News Agency, Xinhua Net is an important central news service-oriented website, an important information organ of the central government, and an important platform for building up China's online international communication capacity. This website is famous in China and the news it released is always authoritative and professional.