Interactive comment on "Multi-objective optimization of typhoon inundation forecast models for water-level gauging network by integration of ARMAX with a Genetic Algorithm" by H.-T. Ouyang

S.-S. SHIH

uptreeshih@gmail.com

This paper proposed a means of forecasting inundation levels in real-time using monitoring data from a water-level gauging network. It is interesting and I believe the paper meets the scope of the journal. After some revisions and English editing, the paper should be considered to be published it the journal.