

Interactive comment on “A review of multivariate social vulnerability methodologies; a case study of the River Parrett catchment, Somerset” by I. Willis and J. Fitton

I. Willis

iaain.willis@live.co.uk

Received and published: 11 March 2016

A great many thanks for the review and feedback on the paper. Very helpful points and certainly things that myself and the co-author will look to address in the coming weeks.

I'm familiar with several of the papers and books listed in the first comment but am keen to read the others mentioned and see how I can integrate these into the paper.

Similarly, very good points on localism, the role of government and the wider implications of this research. We'll look to revise and re-issue in the coming weeks,

Many thanks,

C1

Iain

Interactive comment on Nat. Hazards Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., doi:10.5194/nhess-2016-58, 2016.

C2