We thank Reviewer 1 for having carefully read our manuscript and for her/his comments. We agree on the suggestions to add material describing a) the role of the wind and b) the link to anticyclones. On this respect, we think that this review really helps improving the clarity and the quality of the manuscript. Our replies to her/his major concerns and the description of the added material that we have produced for properly addressing them can be found in the supplement material

Please also note the supplement to this comment:
