Dear reviewer,

thank you for your comments. As you mention, your main criticism overlaps with that of reviewer 1: The paper could be more focused and offer more insights to new researchers in the field. We think that your idea to use one of the challenges from section 5 as a starting point is a very good one, and will do this in the next revision.

Thank you also for the additional references and the recommendation to extend the discussion of relatedness/relevancy/informativeness along the lines of actionability. This will add a nice resolution to section 2. We will also include the additional data sets you mentioned.

To summarize: In the next revision, we will focus the paper more (on one of the section 5 challenges) and add more of our own experiences to provide guidance to new researchers.
