

Editor Comments

As you have included information on stakeholder workshops in the revised version, it is essential to provide additional details, such as institutional ethics approval, consent procedures, and risk assessment conducted before the workshops. Additionally, please specify when, where and how the workshops took place and the number of participants involved. Kindly add a few sentences in the Methods section where this information has been introduced.

The rest of the manuscript looks good to me.

Response

We have updated the Methods section to include details on informed consent, the location and time of the workshops, as well as the number of participants involved. Additionally, we mentioned that the workshops were organized and moderated by representatives of the Disaster Competence Network Austria (DCNA), whose strategic goal is to bridge the gap between scientific research and practitioners in crisis and disaster management in Austria. We have also acknowledged the contribution of DCNA in a new Acknowledgements section at the end of the manuscript. Furthermore, letters of support from the majority of institutions that participated in the workshops were collected during the funding acquisition process. Workshop participants attended as experts representing their respective institutions and public authorities, rather than as private individuals. Due diligence was exercised throughout the process to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the information provided.